Have your papers ready

Boys of 4th St. Albert Cubs and Scouts will be at your door this Saturday morning, and if you have your papers ready, the young fellows will really appreciate it. The drive is a way for them to support their programs through their own efforts, and funds from the paper drive will be put to excellent use. Leaders and parents get into the act as well, assisting with organizing and driving. All forms of paper, cardboard, books, magazines etcetera are welcome.

Council makes decisions on 2 more developments

Council unanimously supported committee's recommendation on service costs for a proposed apartment at 47 Sturgeon Road, at their meeting Monday night.

A letter from Mr. N. Vance asked committee for consideration in the cost of providing a two inch water, and a six inch sewer connection to the proposed development, no consideration was given. Mr. N. Vance of Leighton Development Corp (and Selective Investments) was present in the gallery and asked to speak. Despite the objections of deBrujin and Hudson, that he should come before committee, council voted he be heard. Mr. Vance felt he should not be responsible for the entire cost of $1,850, but only for the extra required to bring the lines into the apartment from the property boundary, about $420. "This is the right way to look at it," Lukay did not agree. "When we rezoned this property to allow for your apartment, we in effect created extra expense for the town by way of roadways etc. Your service costs are justified," he told Mr. Vance. Vote to make no change in service costs carried 7-0.

Mr. W. Carlyle of Hallmark Homes Ltd., presented revised architectural sketch of two four-plexes proposed for the Burnham-Bishop area. The basic plan was changed from a pitched to flat roof. Top floor will be covered with cedar siding in French provincial style, and reclaimed brick used on two elevations. A heavy architectural type yellow stucco was proposed for the other two elevations. Planner Woodroffe recommended brick all around, but Mr. Carlyle felt the use of the two materials would be more pleasing to the eye. Planner's objections were to stucco on a rental project, which takes a beating from discoloration, but he was pleased with the roof change, making the development "more symmetrical to the area." "Is the stucco paintable?" asked deBrujin and was told no.

Hudson's motion to accept the aesthetics, subject to brick on four sides lost 4-3, with Gibbon, Thronson, Kambouroff and de Brujin opposed. Lukay was surprised at the mayor's motion to approve as presented. "Because I agree that the two materials will be more pleasing," said Gibbon, Hudson thought it was "amazing how we sit as judge and jury on all these projects." Now I'm asked to defend "why brick - why brick?" I didn't move with the idea that to always use all brick is good - I was concerned that we are dealing with rental units, liable to less care." Mayor Gibbon said he would like to point out that "we have chased this developer back on this project three times. Motion carried 4-3 with Baker, Lukay and Hudson opposed.

In a response to a letter from the RCMP council decided unanimously that an auction is the best way to clear found articles, since it is useful in reclaiming lost bikes, by the owners.

Highschool ready for tender soon

Tenders will be called for the new St. Albert Protestant high school within two weeks, architect Jack Gardener told trustees at the October 27 meeting of committee of the whole. Mr. Gardener agreed this was a "poor time" to go to tender, but disagreed with Dr. Wm. Cuts' suggestion that perhaps the district should wait until the spring to call for tenders.

"Who knows what we will be up against then, probably increases in labour costs and perhaps higher costs for materials," Mr. Gardener said.

He advised trustees it will take approximately 12 months from the time tenders are called until students can move into the school. In answer to trustees' concern regarding the cost of the building, Mr. Gardener pointed out that the school can by no stretch of the imagination be considered an elaborate building and he would not be able to cut costs to any great extent.

Trustees carried Charles Schroder's motion that the district approach the department of education regarding the foundation grant. Under present regulations the district receives a grant of $16.25 per square foot for the new high school.

In attendance with Mr. Gardener were his chief draftsman, mechanical and electrical engineers.

Later in the meeting, trustees discussed at length a report on school fees prepared by B. Findlater, J. Arnot, J. Bauman, Mrs. M. Martin and D. Parkinson.

In his opening remarks, Barrie Findlater questioned the presence of the Gazette reporter at this part of the meeting. He felt the report which was about to be presented to the board was of such a "complex nature" he did not see how it could be "properly reported on." Charles Schroder answered "I see no reason to ask the reporter to leave the meeting, and I suggest we let

Trustees consider equipment and landscaping

Catholic school trustees heard a report from Don LaBelle, chairman of the finance committee, regarding the equipment order for the new Albert Lacombe school addition. Mr. LaBelle recommended that the district go ahead and order a portion of the equipment. He advised trustees that the finance committee went through the list quite closely and the board agreed to purchase $5,700 worth of equipment now. The remainder of the items requested in a report submitted by R. Binette, principal of Lacombe school and Bob Chaput, are still being considered.

Superintendent of schools, Vince Maloney, reported on the landscaping of the grounds at Albert Lacombe school. Mr. Maloney said landscaping on that particular site is proving to be an expensive proposition because of the roughness of the terrain. Mr. Maloney recommended that grading be done before winter sets in. Trustees discussed cost of work done to date and

JOHN WESTRA

The appointment is announced of John Westra to the position of manager, Bank of Nova Scotia, St. Albert. Mr. Westra joined the Bank of Nova Scotia in Calgary in 1962 and worked in several branches in that city prior to being appointed credit officer at the Lethbridge branch in 1967. Mr. Westra was assistant manager in Lethbridge for three years before being posted to St. Albert. John Westra is married and he and his wife Grace have one son. The family lives at 10 Belmont Drive.

Ice Unsafe

St. Albert RCMP police warn all youngsters, and their parents, that the ice on the Sturgeon River is unsafe at present. Officers report large numbers of children are playing on the ice and are fearful a drowning could occur. So, kids, please stay away from the river; we would hate to have to report a drowning.

AROUND TOWN

The CWL, sponsors of last week's Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic, are just thrilled with the response shown by the residents of St. Albert. The three hour clinic, held at the community hall, netted 145 pints of blood, a truly excellent result.

The attention of our readers is drawn to the "Library News" column, which carries the library hours each week. If readers would check the hours here, rather than telephone the library it would be appreciated by the hard-working staff.

Attention is drawn to the town advertisement in this issue regarding the federal government's Local Initiatives and Training program. This is similar to a winter works program for this year only. Local organizations who may have a suitable project may contact town office for more information. Labor intensive projects, meeting the requirement of a minimum of 30 man-months of work will be given priority, in the program, and those providing work for semi-skilled and unskilled workers.

the costs of running shoes, school pictures, erasers and scribbles, sewing notions and all other school needs; it took a good 1 1/2 hours to go through the report item by item.

referred the matter to the site committee.

Also at the November 1st meeting of the board, trustees agreed to install eight plug-ins, at a cost of $396, at Father Jan school. There are six electrical plug-ins there now, but this number is found to be insufficient. Trustee Al Gannon pointed out that the academic staff at NAIT and the U of A pay for the use of plug-ins and he moved that this matter be referred to the finance committee to consider the possibility of establishing such a fee in the district.

Several trustees indicated they had received complaints from parents whose children attend Father Jan school with regards to the lack of locker space at the school. Theft has been a problem at the school and trustees were told there are no hooks in the corridors for the students to hang their coats on. Mr. Maloney said the school has func-

Letters to the Editor

Mayor replies

The Editor:

Re: Appointment of Preventive Social Services committee members.

A recommendation dated October 14, 1971, from the previous chairman asked for the re-appointment of seven previous members, and Councillor Kambourov who had agreed to continue as council representative. A motion appointing all eight was carried 5-1.

A motion recommending Mrs. Parsons, Mrs. Stibbe, and Mr. Gance was placed, but later withdrawn, when council asked for the privilege of an individual vote on each new applicant. The following individual motions were placed for consideration.

Resolution 10,253; Mrs. Stibbe, carried 4-2; 10,254; Mr. Gance, carried 6-0; 10,255; Mr. Thomas, carried 4-2.

As a result of three approvals Mrs. Parsons did not come to a vote. We did not have a recorded vote but from my own recollection the votes that were not unanimous had different council members supporting or opposing them. This follows the regular pattern of the Municipal Government Act.

With respect to qualifications of committee members the last time I checked with a representative of the department of social development, I could not get what I would call a concrete answer to that very question.

I would like to thank the applicants who came forward for the Preventive Social Services committee of council as I believe interest in particular fields is the main criteria of qualification for all volunteers in St. Albert. I am sorry we could not have enlarged the committee to take in all applicants. For this I apologize.

The Poppy and Remembrance

By Wally Swenarchuk

This year will mark the 50th anniversary of the custom of wearing a poppy for remembrance in Canada. Poppy Day in St. Albert will be on Saturday, Nov. 6.

On this day members of the Royal Canadian Legion assisted by members of the Royal Canadian Air Cadets will attempt to spread the meaning of the poppy.

With what emotions will citizens of the communities from coast to coast, including St. Albert, receive the poppy? What does this flower symbolize?

To the older generation the poppy symbolizes REMEMBRANCE. But the meaning is lost to the young people, most of whom have not experienced war. Most young people are not impressed with tunes of glory. This year's poppy campaign is directed more to the young people of our country than to the veterans who keep memories alive.

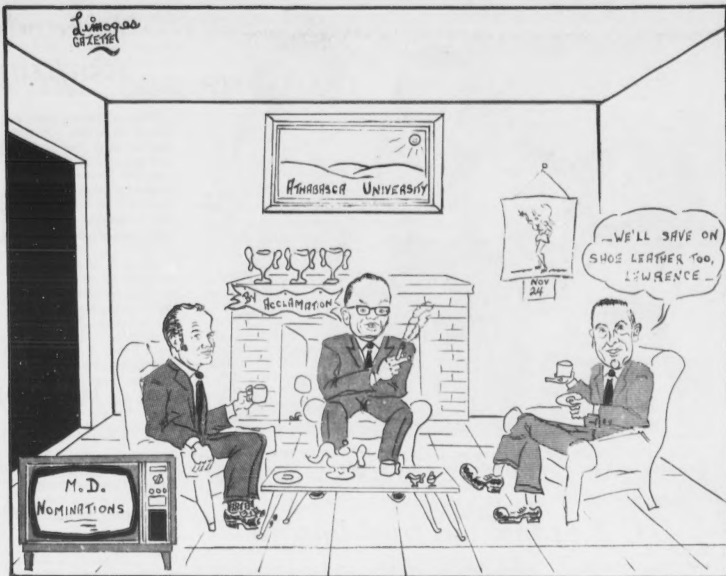

The poppy is the flower that won peace and freedom. For most freedom is a precious, disciplined thing. But take discipline away, and you've got chaos! Freedom does not give us the right to call a man a pig, or burn a university. The freedom which we all enjoy was not God-given; it was man-made! Among other things it cost 114,000 lives. And while the poppy says, "Forget old Battles!" it also says "Remember old Causes... like Freedom."

Let us take a look at Canada today! We will see lots of things we don't like, like poverty, unemployment, strikes, pollution, discrimination. You name it, we've got it! But think for a minute! Is that bad? Think, what it would have been like had we lost World War 1! Then go out into the sunshine and buy yourself a poppy... and wear it for a week -- or longer.

Although the poppy campaign does provide funds for the relief of needy and disabled war veterans and their families, this should be the secondary objective of poppy day. The primary reason should be Remembrance. Remembrance that war means loss of life, remembrance that we do not want to add to the numbers we must care for now. And if we can't remember war, let us think of peace. Freedom to think is undeniable. The Poppy will remind us!

Tricks, treats or pennies?

The Editor:

May I, through your column have a word with the parents of St. Albert.

I understood when the UNICEF boxes were first introduced, that children asked for donations to this very worthy cause instead of candies, which we all realize they do not really need and can well do without. It has been very noticeable these last few years that the children come with both UNICEF boxes and bags for treats or come round twice, but have no intention of giving up treats.

My husband and I have no young ones at home and enjoy seeing the little ones on halloween, but feel the older ones are getting out of hand and just take everything with no word of thanks.

So may I through the Gazette pass along a word to parents - see that the children have either UNICEF boxes or bags for candy, but not BOTH. It is not a very good example for parents to encourage the young ones to accept everything and give nothing. Thank you.

Mrs. Irene Booth reports that the London Society's halloween party at Club Moncombe had to be the best ever. Practically everyone in the large crowd was in costume, nearly all of them home made, and showing considerable imagination. Mrs. Appleton, new manageress at the club, was given the difficult task of choosing the four best ones, and prizes were awarded to Ron Brandrick as Nero, Faye Schultz and Gordon Shermidine as a couple of cannibals, and Jeanette Stanley as frighteningly realistic witch. Door prize went to Joan Frost, and Len Richardson won the annual raffle, proceeds of which are equally divided between the winner and the Hercules Soccer Club.

What to buy? Tannis and Bradley Malek, 2 1/2 year old twins of 2 Gresham Blvd., are viewing but a few of the items being offered at the United Church Womens bazaar. The youngsters, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Malek, seem to have no problem finding something they like.

UCW plan tea and bazaar

Saturday, November 6, will be a day to do some of your Christmas shopping, when the St. Albert United Church Women present their annual tea and bazaar in the community hall 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Rev. Leonard Musto will conduct the official opening.

Upstairs many attractive handiwork items, including beeswax candles, stuffed toys and doll clothes will be for sale, as well as the ever popular home baking and mince meat. Cards and novelties will be displayed; orders are welcomed and deliveries will be made.

A thrift table will be featured with next-to-new clothing for children and adults at very reasonable prices, along with the white elephant sale. No admission is charged to the bazaar. Downstairs, also from 11 to 3 p.m., a business man's or family hot luncheon will be served, as well as tea and dainties. The usual tea and bazaar has changed to include something for the whole family - plan to make this a family outing. Girl guides will assist in serving. Free babysitting provided.

Sunday service to feature play

A worship service of interest will be conducted Sunday, November 7, at 10 a.m. in the St. Albert United Church, when a chancel play, "The Parable of the Kidron Valley" will be presented under the direction of John Lindley.

The cast includes Marcia

Scammell, Dr. George Szekely, Phillip Upright, and John Lindley.

The play tries to pull the world's "brothers" out of an idealistic haze. The story itself is a fictional version of what might have happened to Simon Peter when he left the courtyard of Calaphasto

While cataloguing goes on behind the scenes and new displays are beginning to take shape within the Father Lacombe Museum, further steps were taken at a recent meeting to establish a working committee concerned with policy and decision making.

Attending the meeting that resulted in the formation of this committee, to be called an administrative board, were Mrs. Arlene Bergstede, acting chairman; Father J. Holland, representing the Edmonton Archdiocese; Fathers G. Labonte and A. Hudon, acting on behalf of the Oblate Fathers; Father Colin Levangie and Mrs. Renee Laird who attended on behalf of Mayor Ray Gibbon.

After lengthy discussion it was decided that the board should consist of a representative of each of the three principals having a vested interest in the museum; the Oblates, the Archdiocese and the Town of St. Albert, the parish priest, the curator of the museum, and two members of the community at large.

Father Levangie reported that Brother Andy Boyer, a seminarian from Duck Lake, who is now residing at the St. Albert Rectory, has accepted the position of curator until December, 1972, and will sit on the board in that capacity.

Beides the immediate plans to formulate a policy regulating the every day running of the museum, the board will also look to long range planning for further repairs, expansion and/or rebuilding.

An invitation is being extended to any residents of St. Albert who may be interested in filling the last vacancy on the board. Meetings will be held once monthly and the term of office will be for one year. If you are interested in working on this board, application can be made to Father Lacombe Museum, Administration Board, 3 St. Vital Ave.

Parish Bazaar coming next week

The St. Albert Parish Bazaar, a two-day affair, will be held next Saturday and Sunday, November 13 and 14.

Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, will see the opening of the children's bazaar, an afternoon of games and concessions as well as toy counters, especially planned for the little people.

A Hardtins dance will be held at the community hall at 9 p.m. Saturday. The bazaar will open again to the general public at 2 p.m. Sunday and bingo will be played beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Degrees in Theology conferred on 17 students at second convocation held by Newman College

Seventeen Bachelor of Theology degrees were awarded Thursday evening at the second annual convocation, Newman Theological College, Dr. R. M. Clare, Chancellor, conferred degrees on Shirley Anne Threldy, who graduated with excellence; Rev. John Schuster, Rev. Richard Bednar, Sr., Antoinette Polssonault, L.J. B.Ed., Wayne Benson, Rev. Augustine Baker, B.A., Jerome Francis Pragma, B.A., Francis Kim-Hung Yeung, B.Sc., Antonius Dixy, B.A., Rev. Emmett Crough, Victor Bureau and Nicholas Cooney, all with honors standing; and Marcel Croteau, Rev. Rossire Lambert, B.A., Kenneth McLellan, Roger Mullaney, A.B., Romeo Poirier, B.A., (OMD).

Following the procession, chairman Greg Belland, director of religious education, introduced Rev. Michael O'Callaghan, principal, for the College Report.

Areas of difficulty received first attention from the principal, finances, the difficulty of gaining official acceptance, and the difficulty of the college's acceptance by the public were the concerns he discussed, going on to report on progress made in the second year of the college's existence.

Progress noted

The college has been granted associate membership in the American Association of Theological Schools of the United States and Canada, and is working towards accreditation and full membership, "a sign of the long way we have come," Newman College is officially recognized by the Universities Commission and eventually hopes to join the Canadian Association of Universities and Colleges. "The reaction of the general public is certainly more favorable," Fr. O'Callaghan went on, "and an indication is the demands on the time of our staff to speak at a variety of public functions in the Edmonton area."

Optimistic

"We are becoming a theological centre in Western Canada, and I am optimistic and enthusiastic about our future," said Fr. O'Callaghan. "The facilities we have here in St. Joseph's Seminary and Newman College are almost unmatched in Western Canada." Father O'Callaghan had gratitude for the support of the Archbishop of Edmonton — "a support given with the courage of faith." And he reminded the students that they themselves are the college's best advertising.

"I do not thank the creative hand of God," he concluded, "but rather I pray we may conform to what He would have us become."

Visitor from afar

"A warm and friendly Canadian, priest of the Society of Jesus, and a methodical and creative theologian," said Father Phillip Mueller, opening his introduction of the distinguished guest speaker for the convocation, Rev. F. E. Crowe of Regis College, Toronto. Rev. Crowe, he said, came to the priesthood by an unusual route, having started his career as an engineering graduate of the University of New Brunswick. After joining the order he was ordained in 1949, went to Rome for his doctorate and is now a professor at the Toronto School of Theology.

In a fascinating and thought-provoking address sprinkled with a delightful wit, Rev. Crowe spoke of the role of the church in the modern world, on the theme of "building Jerusalem in the heart of Athens." To bring the word of God into the Arts and Sciences is not easy, he said. It should not be taken for granted, and the desirability of attempting it should not be taken for granted either. "Are we perhaps trying to trisect an angle?"

Looking back

Going back into history he spoke of Tertullian, a writer in the early church, "founder of the language of Latin theology," and his concept that there should be no relation between the world of Jesus and the world of Athens. The world of Athens and man's learning was not the world of theological enquiry, and philosophy, suggested Tertullian, supplies the heretics with their equipment.

On the other side of the question, Rev. Crowe spoke of the concept of another great theologian, Clement of Alexandria, who thought that the river of truth should have streams from all sides flowing into it. "Clement, I think, would feel at home in your college," he told the graduates.

Your founder

The man John Henry Newman, for whom the college is named, the speaker described as having a mind interested in everything — world wide. Rev. Crowe thought the Vatican Council II was moving in the direction of Clement and Newman, but reminded his audience that we have representatives of the more narrow thinking is with us still.

Taking what he described as a "seven-league boot" journey through history, a process which he admitted "pains" historians, Fr. Crowe spoke of the persecution of Christians — perhaps the start of the movement of the church into the world; the decrees of theologians establishing churches; the year 800, when Charlemagne was crowned by the Pope, and the 13th century, when the church dominated all culture — a world that was one great monastery. A time of "theological imperialism."

A lesson learned

And then came the time for philosophy and culture to get out from under — a long sad story of withdrawal. "We have learned that lesson," said Fr. Crowe. "Vatican II made a distinct and definite step forward towards a renewed faith, in which the church opens her heart to good it finds in the world. Not denying our past we have added a humbler aspect — a desire to co-operate with that autonomous world of man." A new generation of church scholars has liberated us from an undue attachment to the past. But we must keep a perspective.

"You must fulfill your Christian vocation in your own post-modern way. If you discover what it is to be the church in the modern world, then you will discover how to carry out theological enquiry," concluded Rev. Crowe.

Mr. Belland thanked the speaker for coming and "giving us these deep thoughts for the young people who will be the church of the future."

Servants of God

Dr. Clare, Chancellor, offered his congratulations and best wishes to the graduates, "as you go forward as servants of God. No one likes to be classed as a servant," he said, "although there are a lot of people playing God. As I see it the challenge in the church today is to keep the faith. There has been a decay in the acceptance of authority in the church." Dr. Clare also noted that the college prepares teachers as well as future priests.

Award

Fr. O'Callaghan presented the first annual award for general theological excellence to Shirley Anne Threldy, "a person who has embodied academic excellence and scholarship, and also a wisdom of the kind necessary for anyone working in theology." All of the other graduates and the entire assembly stood to give Shirley Anne an ovation.

Archbishop speaks

Most Rev. Anthony Jordan, Archbishop of Edmonton and Chairman of the College Board, gave the concluding remarks and benediction. He said the possibility of the beginning of the new program in religious education was due to the interest of the Edmonton school board and administrators of the Edmonton Catholic School System.

He wished to single out three graduates for a mention, which he thought the others would not object to; Rev. Crough, Rev. Bednar and Rev. Baker. These three busy pastors, said the Archbishop, have managed to juggle their times to attend classes, to study, and to earn their degree. He also congratulated the administrators of the college on their interest, industry and initiative.

Because the archdiocese marked its 100th anniversary on September 22, he reviewed the contributions made by the Bishops over the time: Bishop Vital Grandin, Archbishop Legal, Archbishop O'Leary, and Archbishop MacDonald.

Archbishop Jordan also recalled the ceremonies in 1957 when the cornerstone for St. Joseph's Seminary was laid. On this occasion he had the somewhat embarrassing duty of explaining to Archbishop MacDonald, main speaker, that the gathering had to be right on time for the dinner to follow and it was necessary for his speech to be short. "How long?" asked Archbishop MacDonald. Ten minutes. After which the good bishop took 20 minutes to say that he could not do justice to the occasion, because of the limited time.

Following the convocation, a reception was held for the approximately 150 special guests, graduates and their parents and friends

ST. ALBERT RECREATION HI — LITES

Announcements about recreational programs being carried on in St. Albert appear in this column each week through the courtesy of the Editor.

It is, however, impossible to mention them all each week. Newcomers especially are invited to phone the department of recreation at 599-6601 for information about programs in progress or programs being planned for the New Year in which they may be interested.

ACTIVITY NIGHT:

Activity night or sports club, whatever its called, Sir George Simpson School seems to be the place to go on Tuesday evenings when both gymnasiums are open for unscheduled activities from 7:30 - 10 p.m. However, note that if there is no one there at 9 p.m. the gym will be closed.

Badminton is played in one gymnasium and the other is free for basketball and volleyball — a few gentlemen even used the accommodation for juggling one evening! People have been coming singly, in couples and in family groups — all ages. But please note also that young people under the age of 15 should be accompanied by an adult.

This activity night, which is really in the experimental stage, looks as if it could develop and if anyone has any suggestions on how the time and accommodation can be of even better use, please phone the department of recreation at 599-6601.

SPORTS CLUB:

This is another activity night but here the emphasis is on volleyball. The "members" (there is again no membership fee) meet in Father Jan school every Thursday evening from 8 - 10 p.m. Young and older adults can come, get some exercise and have fun doing it.

SQUARE DANCING:

The St. Albert Saints and Sinners will be holding their annual Sadie Hawkins Dance on Saturday, Nov. 7 at the usual location, Sir Alexander school.

Two classes for beginners are being held: one for the 8 - 12 year olds where young gentlemen in that age group will be very welcome, the other for older people who want to learn to dance or whose dancing has become rusty. For information about these classes phone Mrs. Larkins at 599-6278 or Mrs. Terrault at 599-6896.

Square dancers are friendly people and newcomers to St. Albert will be made very welcome at the classes or the regular dances which are held in Sir Alexander Mackenzie school on the first and third Saturdays of each month.

HERCULES BASKETBALL: Registrations for the boys and girls basketball programs are now due. The boys practice on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 - 9 p.m. in Vital Grandin school and the girls on Tuesdays only from 7 - 9 p.m. in Leo Nickerson school.

DRAMA:

This St. Albert-on-Sturgeon Players officially came to life again when there was a very promising turn-out at the meeting held last Sunday. There was a useful exchange of ideas and the outcome was a script-reading which will be held in the Clubhouse on Sunday, Nov. 7 at 8 p.m. The scripts of two plays will be available.

There'll be lots of discussion, naturally, but Bob Gibbons has undertaken to guide the group through an exercise, based on the two plays, in set design and construction so that when a play DOES go into production everyone will know what is involved in that area. Meetings will be held on the first and third Sundays of each month with a different "theme" each night. Then in the New Year, with a good sound base, the Players hope to go into production with a play or plays.

Everyone interested in seeing the drama group really gets going is invited to the Clubhouse on Sunday evening.

Trends in education in Alberta

The Alberta School Trustees Association 65th annual convention will be held in Calgary at the Calgary Inn, November 7 - 10.

A major portion of the convention will deal with a wide variety of resolutions of educational interest. For instance, there will be resolutions:

- *that the Alberta government provide leadership in the establishment of a federal office of education.

- *that there should be a greater stress on environmental studies.

- *that a regular system for assessment of student performance in class be established.

- *that the provincial government provide aid for early childhood education.

- *that each student teacher undergo a one-year internship.

- *that each teacher have a minimum of four years of basic teacher training.

- *that each teacher's contract be reviewed every five years.

The keynote address will be delivered by Dr. A. Kratzmann, Dean of Education, University of Saskatchewan Regina Campus (formerly head of the Department of Elementary Education, University of Alberta).

Education clinics will deal with the objectives of education, with the pro's and con's of the county system and with the modified school year.

Delegates at the convention will be able to tour the University Elementary Demonstration School at the University of Calgary, the William Roper Hull Home school (a school for emotionally disturbed children that has an open area and a non-graded setting), the Calgary and Regional Educational Television Centre, the Van Horne Secondary Vocational School, and the Calgary School Board Library Service Centre.

PUPIL TRANSPORTATION

With the current concern of St. Albert residents about school busing the question of what The School Act says, specifically, re: the matter of student bus transportation has arisen.

Representatives of both St. Albert school boards agree that this particular legislation is in need of revision so that suburban areas like St. Albert are not put in a disadvantageous position when grantees for student transportation are given out to school boards.

Both St. Albert boards, working together, have initiated action to have this legislation modified as soon as is feasible.

INNOVATIVE PROJECTS

In 1970 the Department of Education set up an "Innovative Projects Fund." This is a fund designed to give money to school systems which come up with new ideas which could change the present system of education for the better. This is an attempt to encourage classroom teachers, administrators, trustees, and the public at large to come forth with new ideas that would improve education and to promote a creative, experimental attitude re: innovations in education.

ALBERTA'S TEACHING FORCE

Each year statistics are compiled on the Alberta teaching force. Very briefly, the 1970-71 school term statistics on Alberta's teachers are as follows:

- *In September 1970 there were 20,600 teachers in Alberta.

- *the average age of the teachers was 33.4 years.

- *41.5 per cent of the teachers were male; 58.7 per cent female.

- *48.5 per cent of Alberta's teachers were in Calgary and Edmonton.

- *58.8 per cent of the teachers had one or more university degrees.

- *70.4 per cent had four or more years of teacher education.

TRENDS

Two trends that have been gaining momentum in education in recent years and continue to do so are:

- a) the trend of the public to become increasingly concerned about the quality of education in our schools as opposed to primary concern about the cost of education. It would appear that people are willing to pay for good education (within reasonable limits of course) provided that they are satisfied that what they are, indeed, getting for their educational dollar is top calibre education;

- b) the trend of the public to become directly involved in education, to ask questions about what exactly is going on in the schools, to offer ideas and suggestions.

Legal Aid

Attorney General Mervin Leitch announced that the Cabinet has passed a special warrant providing an additional $200,000 for the Province's legal aid plan.

This brings the government's contribution to legal aid to $900,000 for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1972, which was the amount the legal aid committee had anticipated receiving for that period.

The legal aid plan had already received $700,000 through an appropriation and the additional funds will enable the plan to operate within its projected budget.

Attorney General Leitch said the payment of this money is in keeping with the philosophy of the government to provide through a well administered legal aid plan assistance to those persons who are unable to pay for necessary legal services. Alberta's legal aid plan is operated in co-operation with the Law Society of Alberta whose members provide their services at substantially reduced rates.

Library News

The St. Albert Library Board members were delighted to receive adonation of $500 from the Breakfast Lions Club last week.

They have already ordered 100 new books for one-eight year olds, an area presently quite short in the library. The board is hopeful that they will be able to increase children's books by another 200 - 300, which would also make it possible to enlarge the Story Hour inaugurated last year, which has proved a most popular program for pre-schoolers.

St. Albert High

The yearbook workers are looking for someone who is interested in drawing, to design a cover for this year's Yearbook. Sketch one two, three and more and win yourself a free yearbook. See Denise Gravelle if you want to know more, and GET INVOLVED.

JR. HIGH VOLLEYBALL The Junior High Volleyball League will begin on Tuesday, Nov. 23. Matches will be played each Tuesday and Thursday for three weeks and there will be two exhibition matches on Nov. 16 and 18.

Lo-Cost Automatic expansion

Lo-Cost Automatic Transmissions, the largest, most progressive company of its kind in Canada, is marking another major expansion.

The firm, founded eight years ago in Edmonton by Al Giroux and Tom Morall, has recently opened its 16th automatic transmission centre in Western Canada at 13034 97th St.

Mr. Giroux and Mr. Morall go together and went into the business of servicing and rebuilding automatic transmissions. Their first place of business was in Edmonton. Today the firm is still flourishing and expanding at a rate of two new shops a year.

Since Mr. Giroux and Mr. Morall became partners in 1963, they've established four other centres in Edmonton, five in the Greater Vancouver area, three in Winnipeg, two in Calgary and one in Saskatoon.

"The success of our operation is fast service and expert technicians at each of our shops", says the company president, Al Giroux who is based in Edmonton. His partner, Tom Morall operates out of Vancouver.

"We have one specialty and one only -- the servicing, repairing and rebuilding of automatic transmissions".

Lo-Cost Automatic Transmissions is fully equipped to provide customers efficient one day service. It carries a complete inventory of parts, rebuilds automatic transmissions and converters to service all passenger cars, including imports.

The company's headquarters is in Edmonton at 10230 95th St. where another Edmontonian, Otto Enderl manages a 20-stall, 40-employee service centre and re-manufacturing plant.

Other shops in Edmonton are located at 9901 72nd Ave., 14020 Stony Plain Road and still another location to open soon at 13034 97th St.

Manager of the new North-gate Branch is John Laboda.

Lo-Cost Automatic Transmissions not only serves and overhauls automatic transmissions, but operates a parts re-manufacturing plant that produces parts and rebuilt converters.

Mr. Giroux says a vehicle's automatic transmission requires as much attention as its engine and brakes. "Trouble is", he says, "most automobile owners aren't aware that automatic transmissions should be serviced regularly".

"People can save a lot of money and grief by having their automatic transmissions serviced once a year".

"They have their cars tuned and greased on a regular basis," says Otto Enderl, "and it's the same with an automatic transmission. It must be looked after to insure trouble-free performance also".

If automatic transmissions are checked once a year, minor malfunctions would be located and corrected before serious problems developed, saving the automobile owner money and time.

All centres and branches of Lo-Cost Automatic Transmissions offer a free transmission check-up as a company policy. It includes a free road test with a written diagnosis of each transmission checked.

When the problem is not the transmission at all, but the car may need a tune-up or an engine overhaul, in which case the customer is referred back to his garage.

Lo-Cost has major service centres equipped to handle 15 cars at one time located in Edmonton, Vancouver, Winnipeg, Calgary, Saskatoon, and Victoria. They are equipped with tele. complete inventory of parts, rebuilt automatic transmissions and converters valued at over a quarter million dollars.

Orders come from all parts of Canada for special parts to be delivered by the fastest route. If not carried in stock parts are made in the re-manufacturing department by expert craftsmen.

Three of the main reasons the Comets are 3 - 0 in pre-season play are goalies Mike Carrier (left), John Downs and winger Al Laplante (center). The two goalies have allowed only six goals while Laplante picked up a hat trick and an assist against Westlock on Friday. Al added another goal in the game against Ray's Esso.

Comets win 3 in exhibition play

The St. Albert Comets senior hockey club are now 3 - 0 in pre-season play with their opening 5 - 3 win over Ray's Esso and two wins over Westlock last weekend.

On Friday the Comets blasted the Westlock Eagles 9 - 1 with Al Laplante scoring three goals. Comets coach Ken Schwartz dressed 21 players for the match while Eagle coach Chuck Keller went with only 16. Comets jumped into an early 2 - 0 lead on goals by Alex Orazz and John Arnott. They increased the lead to six goals in the second including short-handed tallies by Ray Lamer and Jake Contant. Rick Pugliese and Laplante added the other two. Captain Fred Hesse and Laplante pushed the score to 8 - 0 before defenseman George St. Laurent scored at the 18:05 mark of the third, to spoil the Comet shut-out. Laplante completed his hat trick 30 seconds later on a pass from Jim Read who picked up four assists.

Comets took 9 of 11 penalties called, and at one time in the third period controlled the play for almost five minutes while two men short.

On Sunday the Comets travelled to Westlock and had to score two goals in the third period to nip the Eagles 3 - 2. The first period was scoreless and only three minor penalties were called with two going to the Comets. Play opened up in the second with Comets heading to the penalty box in a steady stream. They took 10 penalties, including a major for fighting to Ray Lamer. He still has to pick up his first fistfight win.

Westlock took advantage and Leo Seguin and Murray DeAlexandra scored to give the Eagles a 2 - 0 lead. Comets finally got one back just before the second period ended when newcomer Brian Stevens scored. Both teams cooled off in the dressing room and came out in the third to play hockey.

Jake Contant tied the game for the Comets midway through the period. The silver fox, Joe Cassidy, took a pass from wingers Jake and Claude Contant and slipped in the winner with only a few seconds left.

Namoo Edson Hockey games

The Namoo senior hockey club, coached by Clay Crozier, will play a double header exhibition this weekend in Edson against the Colts. Game time on Saturday, Nov. 6 is 8:30 p.m. and Sunday at 2 p.m.

Namoo are the defending champions of the Senior B league.

Fish and Game hold Farmers Night

The St. Albert and District Fish and Game Association will be holding an evening of films and discussion which should prove to be of special interest to farmers, and extends a cordial invitation to all farmers in the area to attend their meeting, Tuesday, November 9, at 8 p.m., at the St. Albert community hall.

Seniors to open league here

The St. Albert Comets senior hockey club will open the 1971/72 Edmonton Central Hockey League season at home this Friday night against Ray's Esso's Edmonton squad.

Comets will play a 25-game schedule with 14 games at home in the St. Albert and District Arena. Games are scheduled for Friday's and Sundays with most games starting at 8 p.m.

Comets coach Ken Schwartz, and manager Rene Poultot feel that with the six or eight new faces, the club will hold its own. Some of last year's players back are captain Fred Hesse, Al Laplante, scoring champ Jim Read, Terry Dube, Rick Pugliese, Ray Lamer, Rich- le Perrault, Norm Buhl, O'Neil Chevallier, Joe Cassidy and Frank Joyal. With the addition of goalies John Downs and Mike Carrier

the team looks much improved over last year.

Other members of the league are Sherwood Park Barons, Leduc Oilers, Stony Plain Eagles and the Win- terburn Tomahawks.

On Sunday the Comets travel to Leduc for a game against the Oilers at 7 p.m.

Meteors meet Flyers

The St. Albert Meteors senior hockey team will play the CWC Flyers in an exhibition game this Sunday, Nov. 7 in the St. Albert and District Arena. Game time is set for 7:30 p.m. and admission of 75¢ for adults and 25¢ for children will be charged.

The Meteors play in the Sturgeon Valley Senior B League and defeated the Flyers 7 - 5 last Sunday.

Bantams lose to Westlock

St. Albert's bantam representative hockey team, under the sponsorship of the Fire Department, travelled to Westlock last Sunday and took a 7 - 1 thumping. St. Albert, playing their first exhibition game of the season, appeared to tire in the third period and allowed Westlock to score four straight goals. Up to that point St. Albert were holding their own, due to some fine net minding from Chris Krupa.

On the opening face-off St. Albert had an excellent chance to score but just couldn't find the mark. Westlock took possession and promptly scored on their first shot on goal. Krupa made some outstanding saves and managed to hold Westlock from scoring until just before the period ended. Westlock opened the second period with a goal very early and held a 3 - 0 lead before Gary Ferguson was set up in front of the net by Rod Gouchy and John Wells to give St. Albert its only goal.

Westlock dominated the third period and scored four goals on Roger Belsey who took over from Krupa to start the final period. The game was cleanly played with each club drawing one minor penalty.

Both clubs, along with Barrhead and Fort Saskatchewan will play in a league which may take in Leduc and Ardrossan.

St. Albert's entry is coached by Doug Milroy with Gord Grant and Larry Mitchell assisting.

Lancers win Pee Wee crown

The Hercules pee-wee soccer league championship was won this year by the Lancers, coached by Mr. Jim Drysdale. This is the second time the team has won the Delcon Management trophy. This year they had to play a sudden death game with the Rovers as they tied for the league title with 14 points each.

Allan Gates scored the only goal of the game as the Lancers won 1 - 0.

Nothing annoys a woman as much as having her friends drop in to find her house looking the way it usually does.

Lady Curlers involved in busy new season

The ladies curling club have their season's activities well underway, following the season's opening last month when luncheon was served to the 27 rinks of the three leagues, courtesy of the executive.

All ladies including those playing in mixed leagues are welcome, along with their guests, to attend a Festival in the Friendly Giant's Inn next Tuesday from 8 p.m. Tickets are available from members at $5. Shirley Fisher at 599-8317, and the evening will provide an excellent opportunity to get better acquainted with some 8000 curlers.

Thanks to the purchase of new tables and chairs, the newly decorated lounge has taken on a more comfortable look, and the public is invited to plan a Friday or Saturday evening there and join in the fun.

Preparations are completed for the Ladies Cash

Honspiel, Nov. 19, 20 and 21, with room for a few more entries, which may be telephoned in to Art McCormack at 599-7007.

Some 80 girls and boys and ladies took in the curling school on October 23, and president Shirley Fisher reports much was gained by the participants through the fine work of the organizers.

By Holly Hill

Volleyball action this week saw PK at St. Albert High on Wednesday, to play SAH and Legal. On Friday the teams went to Fort Saskatchewan to meet the Fort and Lamont teams.

The boys lost four of the five games to SAH and won one of the two games against Legal. The girls had a make shift team, many of the players being at home to study for mid terms to be written the next day. The girls lost three of four games to St. Albert and won their only game against Legal.

On Friday the boys lost their first two games to both the Fort and Lamont. The girls won their games against the Fort but lost to Lamont in two very close games by 16 - 14 and 15 - 13.

This Saturday teams will travel to Athabasca for a round-robin tournament.

In mid-October the new Girls Curling Club was formed, with eight rinks. With the interest and enthusiasm shown by the girls, Non Hoosier and her committee feel the project is well launched, and are looking forward to seeing the parents coming out to watch their daughters take to this exciting game.

HALLOWEEN

Two groups at Paul Kane had very interesting and enjoyable halloween weekends. The ISCF group went to Sundre at 4 a.m. Saturday morning for horseback riding and a halloweencostume party at the Pioneer Lodge base camp. Mr. J. Lindley accompanied the group. The student exchange group had a reunion Saturday night at Aunt Fran and Uncle Bobbie O'Donnell's home. The party was enjoyed by everyone. A little more than half the students were in attendance.

CURLING

Patricia Cann lost her first game of the season last week and is now tied for first place with Terry Mitchell, Ken Kuhn, Matt Lister, and Norman Hill. Close seconds are Dave Upright, Layne Bryant and Brad Hoosier.

CFA advocates special compensation for nations' farmers

It is essential that in the special contingency measures the Prime Minister is planning to introduce to meet the Nixon surcharge and other special policies, that the farmers of Canada be provided adequate compensation and protection for the losses many of them are bound to suffer from the surtax policy, the Canadian Federation of Agriculture said today.

Not all agricultural exports are affected by the surcharge, but 66 per cent of them are, including hogs, and pork products, turkeys and other poultry, eggs, cattle, barley, potatoes and other vegetables, apples, and other fruits, wool, maple sugar and syrup, mustard seed, pest moss, some forage seeds, some animal feeds and many others.

In a world of widespread agricultural protectionism, disruption of our North American market relationship with the U.S. which puts Canadian farmers on the losing side as an exporter, without protection as an importer, can only mean further unfair losses to hard-pressed producers. Very special attention should for this reason be paid to the claims of producers for the fullest consideration in any measures that are developed by the government to provide relief to the Canadian people from the effects of the U.S. policy changes.

It should be clearly understood that the much-publicized exemption of many agricultural products from the price freeze in the U.S. does not mean these products are exempt from import surcharges. They are two different things, a point on which there may well have been confusion in the public mind.

Local cadets keep busy

Squadron officers and members of the sponsoring committee spent the weekend of Oct. 23 and 24 at the provincial conference held in Penhold. The conference was called to update knowledge to be applied at squadron level.

The first weapon instruction session was held on Oct. 31, covering all aspects of safety and proper handling of civil rifles, shotguns as well as military procedures for range firing which will follow when Kaydets and Cadets are fully familiar with the theory aspect. This course is instructed by Frank Hector who received safety training from the Saskatoon City Police.

GENEVIEVE BUJOLD

The following ladies recently completed a recreation leaders training course at Camp He Ho Ha; they all hope to be teaching their crafts in their respective communities this season. Seated left to right are: Agnes McDonnell, Judy Farrell, both of St. Albert, Elaine Whitson, Edith Kowalski, Olga Ferbay and W. R. Carlton of Bon Accord. Standing are Almae Flynn, RQB, C. Borie, Marg Borie, Carol James, of St. Albert, Rita Milligan and Lillian Carleton of Bon Accord.

RCMP to instigate preventive program

"Half of the 252 fatal traffic collisions investigated by the RCMP in Alberta last year had a liquor involvement," reports Inspector W. J. Hunter, RCMP Traffic Officer for Alberta.

The situation is of grave concern to the RCMP for although prosecutions for impaired drivers in the first eight months of 1971 increased 50 per cent, incidents of liquor involvement were still encountered in half of the fatal crashes investigated. By the end of August this year, there were 103 such cases. In the face of this serious situation the RCMP are embarking on a prevention program primarily designed to keep potential impaired drivers out of their vehicles.

The first phase of this program is designed to acquaint the public with the high ratio of liquor involvement in serious traffic collisions. In addition, through correspondence from the Alberta Liquor Control Board and follow-up visits by members of the RCMP, the management and employees in liquor outlets such as taverns, cocktail lounges, etc., are being made aware of the magnitude of the problem directly associated with the drinking driver. The police theory being that: Once liquor outlet managements and employees are acquainted with the serious problems involved and openly advised of the aims of the police program, they can and will be in a position to contribute in a real way to reducing collisions caused by drinking drivers.

The second phase of the program will follow immediately and consist of the establishment of police check points aimed primarily at the person whose ability to drive has been impaired by alcohol. These check points will be set up on a selective basis as to time and place to first detect, er, and where necessary, detect and apprehend the maximum number of impaired drivers.

On the surface this approach may seem severe, however, the police believe that the grim statistics clearly indicate the situation warrants stringent action now. They also feel that once the Force's attitude and motives are made known, the general public will realize there is a need for this type of action and a significant degree of acceptance and compliance with the laws will follow. Hopefully, the incidents of impaired driving will recede. Inspector Hunter says, "Traffic safety is everyone's responsibility. We don't want more prosecutions - we just want less collisions, less death, destruction and misery. This can only be accomplished if people are made aware of the serious consequences of drinking and driving and accept their responsibilities accordingly."

Libraries play important role in age of information explosion

This is the age of the information explosion and the rate at which new knowledge is being produced makes keeping up-to-date a problem of staggering proportions. At present there are two million documents and articles, at least 35,000 journals and about 30,000 technical books published annually in many languages. The global flood of printed matter, alone, is growing at the rate of about seven per cent per year.

Enterprising organizations realize the importance of the effective utilization of this growing body of information and some have established "special" libraries to select and organize information materials of all kinds so that accurate and timely data is readily available to decision-makers. Canada's special libraries already contain approximately thirteen million books and bound periodicals and more than two million research reports. In addition, they subscribe to nearly 300,000 current journals.

Special libraries can be found in government departments, in hospitals, in museums, in business organizations and within some large college and public libraries. The special library maintains a collection of potentially useful information materials and adapts them all to meet the information requirements of its parent organization.

The unique way in which such libraries serve their specialized clientele distinguishes them from conventional libraries. Emphasis is on the information function rather than on the educational or recreational value of the collection.

The busy executive does not have time to search through library resources, so it is the duty of the special library staff to provide the data, rather than the reference source. In addition, the special library has to be organized to supply data in minimum time.

Business organizations require a continuing flow of up-to-date information on economic conditions, manpower, markets, finance and management techniques, as well as scientific and technological information. The special library staff should be made aware of new developments in an organization's activities so that they can anticipate changes in its information requirements.

Canada's first special library was established 200 years ago, but not until this century was this type of library recognized as a vital link in the dissemination of new ideas and new knowledge. Company or business libraries are a mid-Twentieth Century development; more than half of the 239 now functioning in Canada were established after 1950. By far the largest number of business organizations supporting their own libraries are in the manufacturing field. Banking and other financial institutions make up the next largest group.

Special libraries have led the way in the acquisition and organization of such non-print media as recordings, maps, photographs, films and filmstrips, microforms and computer tapes. Use of non-book material for current information has steadily increased in recent years. Sometimes it takes up to two years for the results of experiments and studies to be recorded in book form, so the special library relies heavily on periodical literature and research reports to keep up-to-date in its subject field.

Microforms of all kinds, such as microfilms, microfiche, and microcards, are now playing an important role in the storage of information. A 60-page book for example, can be reduced to a single, four-inch by six-inch microfiche card. Even greater reduction is possible with the use of ultra microfiche, a relatively new entry into the world of microphotography.

Some special libraries prepare "reader interest profiles" and descriptions of new materials as computer input. A routine computer run determines which library users are likely to be interested in a particular item so they can be notified of its availability.

Since a large proportion of new knowledge, including technical information, is available first in foreign language publications, the provision of translations is an important element of the special library's information function.

Rapid communications will become increasingly important to the special library. Experiments in facsimile transmission of published texts over long distances are already in progress. Cost, however, is an important factor, and it has yet to be determined to what extent facsimile transmission will be used by libraries in the near future.

The Science Council of Canada has advocated the establishment of a national information network, which would permit any item of information available in computerized form in Canada to be accessible to users coast to coast. Many existing libraries would be included and eventually the network would be co-ordinated with similar systems in other countries.

The proposed information network would require agreements and funding on national and provincial levels, a more sophisticated communications network, and more extensive inter-library co-operation.

It is apparent that the special library staff of the future will have to know something about electronic data processing in addition to being expert in information handling.

Alberta Wheat Pool fears tax proposal

The income tax proposal as it now stands would result in greater costs and reduction in income to the grain producers of Western Canada. The proposal would force co-operatives such as Alberta Wheat Pool to operate like private corporations, seeking the greatest earnings possible in order to maintain their structure.

At a meeting on Oct. 31 the Namao H-C group decided to hold a bottle collection in order to purchase a movie projector for Christian Education purposes in the church. Residents are asked to leave their bottles at the United Church. For more information contact Keith Reed at 799-5941.

The United Church Sunday School held a UNICEF drive - Halloween again this year. After the drive a party with fun and games was held in the church basement for those who participated. The children collected over $9 for UNICEF.

VENTURE IN H.C. Sumitomo Mining and three Japanese trading firms will set up a joint-venture company to prospect for non-ferrous metals in British Columbia. The new firm, Sumac Mining, will be based in Vancouver and initially be capitalized as $400,000. Sumitomo will provide 52 per cent of the capital. The other firms, which will get up 16 per cent each, are Marchionni-Hida Co. Ataka and Co. and C. Roth and Co.

and meet their new tax responsibilities. Such earnings would have to come from additional charges to the producer, and would force abandonment of the practice of providing service at least cost.

The effect of the proposal would be an actual reduction in farm income because of the increased cost of doing business, as well as a reduction in patronage dividends from co-operatives. Grain handling organizations like Alberta Wheat Pool are entirely owned by the producers. They do business at cost for their own patrons dedicating themselves to maximizing producer income, not corporate income.

A taxing principle is ignored when farmer businessmen are obliged to charge themselves at an increased rate to handle their own product in order to meet a tax formula.

Teachers to become students for a day

Some 396 teachers from St. Albert School Districts Nos. 3 and 6, Sturgeon, Legal and Thibault will be attending a one-day institute on November 12 at St. Albert High School.

The institute will be sponsored by the respective school boards in conjunction with the teachers' local associations in St. Albert and Sturgeon.

The main emphasis of the institute, being planned by teachers, will be on the planning of units in the new Social Studies program. A number of specialists in this area will direct workshops at the various grade levels.

Teachers not directly involved with social studies will attend planned sessions in their respective specialty areas.

The Honourable Lou Hyndman, minister of education, will address teachers and guests at a noon luncheon in the Bonaventure Hotel.

A similar institute held last November proved very helpful to teachers.

Largest class ever graduates in Legal

A program showing careful and thoughtful planning, was arranged for the largest graduating class in the history of Legal High School last Saturday evening. Thirty-two graduates were honored at a mass banquet, exercises and dances, including a number of young students.

Gerald Létourneau, president of the Students' Union, emceed the banquet and the program in very capable fashion, introducing the head table and speakers at the banquet in the rear centre. Mr. Bob Holzer of the teaching staff spoke of the "Quality and the Quantity" of this year's class, as he proposed a toast to the graduates. Academically and socially we treated the students as a family, he said. "They are a great group of young people," Mr. Dixon Keane, principal, gave the Thanksgiving.

The school gym was most attractively decorated to illustrate the graduation theme "Bridge over Troubled Waters." Welcoming the guests to the exercises, Gerald said the theme indicated that knowledge from 12 years of schooling will help solve problems to be faced going out into the world.

Each grad was introduced alternately by Gerald and Rita LaRose, who had pertinent remarks on their achievements, as the graduate walked over the bridge, to a podium with recording register and on to receive the diploma from Mr. Keane, principal.

The bridge, built by students, was set on grass mats at the right front of the gym, with real shrubs and rocks, against a most attractive painted backdrop stimulating water.

Mr. Keane brought greetings from the teachers and staff and complimented those who had made the evening possible, singling out two students for particular mention, Connie Campbell and Corinne Bergvin. He told the students they had brought honor to themselves and their school and expressed the wishes of all that as "you have crossed this bridge this evening, you may also find ways to build a bridge to cross future problems; you encounter, God Speed and Best Success."

Mr. Herve St. Onge, chairman of the school board brought congratulations from the board members and parents, to the graduates - "Fruit harvested from many years of hard work and perseverance. We place in you our confidence and our hopes."

Valued clerics, chosen by the class, were Barnice Mercier and David Kallal, and both spoke extremely well. The challenge to grow and encouragement to compete were aspects of schooling Barnice emphasized.

Referring to being part of the largest graduating class, David also confessed they were "the most distinguished - most talented and best looking." He thanked the teachers and the parents for help and support, adding that the parents made our school years more miserable - "Oops - I mean meaningful."

Guest speaker, Ernie Jamison, M.L.A. had sympathy for the students faced with making important decisions as they left school, and spoke briefly on major areas of concern for the government in the matter of Athabasca University. An investment of about 20 million dollars is involved, and research has not been done on "what kind of higher education is really going to meet the needs of people like yourselves? Dropping enrollments - people with degrees unable to find work in their field - university drop-outs? While seeking these answers, the government has a hold on construction," said Mr. Jamison.

"Learning should be fun," he went on - and it should be a life-long process. If our generation has failed to teach your generation that this is true, we have made a big mistake. He urged the students to continue to learn in whatever areas they have been interested in at school - "not just for the sake of improving a job skill - but just for the joy of it."

He also told the graduates that, through 40 years of working, "the biggest rewards of your career may well come from what you put into your job, rather than what they get out of it. Self respect - enjoyment of work - the regard of employers and co-workers."

"Values you have learned here in Legal will be with you all your life," continued Mr. Jamison, "and you are fortunate in the quality of the values you have learned in this village." "Don't run scared," he said, "the problems in the society you are entering are very grave - and we will never solve them running scared."

"Grab hold of life - for there is no such thing as security in this world. As a Canadian you can carry your head high anywhere in the world. You have had advantages not dreamed of in many lands. You can be leaders - and you can enjoy life. For joy in life is what it's all about," concluded the guest speaker.

Two songs by Rita LaRose and Patsy Montpetit - with original words directed to the graduates and composed by the girls, provided delightful entertainment on the program.

Following the presentations of academic awards, emcee Létourneau invited the large gathering to a dance in the school gym, to the music of the Twilights.

(Note: List of award winners and photo of graduates will be carried next week.)

As I See It

By Rose Martel

As we prepare to observe another Remembrance Day with prayers and solemn devotion for the war dead in memory of an event which was proclaimed by all world leaders at the time as a stable corner stone for world peace, another great threat looms on our own Canadian horizon in 1971.

The Americans are making last minute preparations to set off a nuclear test on Amchitka Island, near our own Canadian shores. This event, set for November 5, may well prove more disastrous than the results of all wars since 1914. There is no sign of any hostilities between our powerful neighbors to the south and us, Canadians, anywhere along our 3,000 miles frontier, nor is there any outside invading force threatening America.

Yet . . . this proposed test on Amchitka Island is said to be 250 times more powerful than the bomb that levelled Hiroshima 26 years ago.

Why is this being done? Why is it permitted? Is it really necessary to maintain peace? Or is it a demonstration of power to satisfy the Pentagon's ego, at the expense of others, away from home base?

As I see it . . . the real risk is unknown. But it is bound to be great to all humans and ecology alike, not only to the west coast residents, but to all living things in the North West Territories and Alberta. Is the lesson, learned from the effects of the bomb dropped on Hiroshima not forgotten?

The ill effects of radio activity are long lasting and fatal to most molluscs and every living cell in humans, animals and vegetation. The final results are destruction on land, air and sea.

One philosopher once said "Man must learn from his mistakes." I sincerely hope and pray that mankind, as a whole, will soon decide to honor the pledge that the world made to those who thought that they had given their lives on the battlefields to assure Peace to this generation and those to come after us.

I also hope that this Remembrance Day in 1971 for the young to learn, and the old to repeat, may be a prayer, not a useless mockery, for all to remember and dedicate anew, the pledge of peace made in 1918.

In Flander's Field, "They shall not grow old; Nor the years condemn; At the going down of the sun And in the morning Let us remember them."

Comeau for Division 4

FRANK COMEAU

In answer for your support in my bid for nomination as councillor for Division Four, I feel you are entitled to know something of my personal background.

My high school education was completed at St. Anthony's College in North Edmonton, where I graduated in 1960.

For a year I worked for the City of Edmonton as a truck driver, before joining a finance company. My experience in the financial field has been of considerable help to me in the years since I decided that farming was really the thing I most wanted to do.

I started farming with my father, Mose Comeau and my brother Roger. In 1965 I purchased a half section of land, the Mel Caron farm one half mile east of Riviere Qui Barre. I continued to work with my dad and my brother. It is a mixed farming operation, raising grain and pure bred crossed hogs. We also run a couple of buses.

In 1966 I married Catherine Kleser of Morinville, and we are now raising a family of five children, Martin 4, Kim 3, Jason one and twin girls, Tania and Trisha. I am 30 years old.

I enjoy sports -- curling, and baseball in particular. I play baseball in the North Central League and have also enjoyed coaching senior baseball.

Since council affairs affect all of us, and I am keenly interested in MD Sturgeon matters, I feel at my age with considerable background in municipal affairs I am prepared to offer my services for councillor.

Before the election on Nov. 24 I hope I'll be able to talk to all the people in Division 4 personally. And I would welcome your questions and phone calls, if there is any further information you might like to have. My number is 256-2066.

Returning from a convention of Electrolux sales representatives held in Mexico City recently, Maurice Chabot, 38 Bernard Drive, bragged to several of his friends about his daring feats of bull-fighting. His audience equated his tales with that of the fisherman relating about the one that got away. Maurice, believing that pictures speak louder than words, rushed home and returned a few minutes later with the evidence. The above picture shows Maurice toying with the "fierce" animal just prior to heading for the safety of his seat in the stands.

U.S. freeze chills Canadian wage talks

The new Nixon economic crackdown, John Schreiner says in The Financial Post, is having a two-pronged impact on wage-bargaining tables in Canada: Negotiations in Canada which are linked closely to U.S. bargaining have gone into suspended animation, probably for the duration of the U.S. wage-price freeze.

Export-oriented companies which are bargaining now are likely to stall until they see how they'll be affected by the U.S. surcharge and by floating currencies.

The Financial Post says the U.S. freeze came at a time when relatively few major Canadian wage agreements were being negotiated. Had it happened a year ago, it would have paralyzed automobile industry talks which are as integrated as their production schedules.

Canadian bargainers, The Financial Post goes on, will have to think carefully about the level of their settlements if their U.S. competitors continue to operate under effective restraints of some sort. The labor movement's worry now is this: might the Canadian government find it necessary to match controls devised in the U.S.? Labor is determined to fight controls.

Regardless of old Hollywood horror films, a tarantula bite is hardly worse than a bee or wasp sting, unless the victim has a particular allergy, National Geographic says. Some ants, bees, and wasps are far more dangerous.

34 SPREADER

Let the mercury drop and snow pile up - the popular 34 can take any weather you can. Spreading power from your tractor PTO assures "go" in all but the toughest of conditions. (Should the snow or mud be too deep for your tractor, you can unload the 34 while standing still.) In good weather, PTO spreading lets you finish the job quickly so you can get to other chores in minimum time.

The 34 is a popular choice of dairymen and feeders. Loading is easy, by gutter cleaner, tractor loader, or manure carrier, thanks to a mere 40 1/2-inch height from ground to top of flares. Big 150-bushel capacity and beater and endgate choices to match needs are other major reasons for 34 popularity.
